మరో ప్రజా సంకల్పం

Maro Praja Sankalpam • Main Edition

40 KGBV students fall ill after dinner in Anantapur

The Hindu Bureau
ANANTAPUR

Ten students have been shifted to the Gummagatta Primary Health Centre for further treatment; DEO orders a thorough inquiry

Nearly 40 students of the Kasturba Gandhi Balika Vidyalaya (KGBV) at Gummagatta in Anantapur district, Andhra Pradesh, fell ill in the early hours of Tuesday and are undergoing treatment.

According to Education department officials, the KGBV has a total enrolment of 279 students from Class VI to Intermediate, of whom 263 were present.

Anantapur, is monitoring the situation in coordination with the medical team.

According to preliminary information, the students were served rice,

Lokesh Nara @naralokesh · 14h

Inviting an elder to one's daughter's wedding is a matter of courtesy and culture. The story in @SakshiNews about @realyssharmila garu's invitation to @ncbn garu is extremely demeaning to a woman, and they are completely unacceptable.

Public life can have strong political differences, but it must never lose its basic values. Personal attacks on a woman have no place in Andhra Pradesh. I strongly condemn @sakshinews for their irresponsible article.

My best wishes to Sharmila garu and her family for the happy occasion.

YS Sharmila @realyssharmila · 17h

తండ్రి వయసున్న వ్యక్తికి @ncbn శుభలేఖ అందిస్తే చెట్టాపట్టాల్ అంటారా ? ఆత్మీయ సంబంధాలని అంటగడతారా ? ఇది ఎవరి వరస...